

March Daily Reflection with Teacher!

Greetings! It is my great pleasure to come forth to speak with you during this brief encounter. I say brief simply because there is an entirety of eternity before us, before you; and as you go forth, this communication is as if a tiny speck in the totality. Yet, at times, a tiny speck can change the nature of the experience of that called eternity. Then, why not this tiny speck?

Who am I, you might be wondering. My name is unimportant. I am but a teacher who comes forth when the student is ready, so to speak. You can call me Teacher, if you like, instead of “that one who speaks the speck that might change the nature of the way that I experience my lifely journey”! Ha!

Then I will begin in his way. Since the beginning of the cause and effect as it has resided within the time stream, there have been those ones who have journeyed into the density of matter’s illusion and anchored light and truth of being. Some have heard those words so many times that they believe them to be ho-hum. And those who say, “Yes, I have heard that all before,” do I ask you then, “When are you going to get it so that the message can stop coming to you?”

You see, there is a bit of confusion about all of this. While you can accept the fact that you have incarnated now in order to assist in the grande awakening and thus participate in the emergence of truth into wholeness of being... incarnate; you still wonder how you can best live your own lives, how to be happy, more prosperous, healthy, and all of the rest. Some wonder why they are having such difficulties within their journey, while others are searching for their soul purpose as if it is different from their reason for being here upon earth now.

Now none of this is a crime, none of the searching is right or wrong; yet I ask you again, do you really understand why you came here now?

Within this tiny speck of speaking, I wish to bring to your awareness the immensity of your being here, the immensity of the reason for your presence. And when you “get it”, I believe you will be relieved of your struggles within this present journey. How can that be? How can your deeper understanding actually relieve you of your struggles?

The answer is simple. When you reside within truth, when you hold the inner knowing of truth within your consciousness, all else arranges itself to align with that truth. Why? Why does the all else arrange itself to be aligned with truth? The answer is that everything... everything's natural manner of being is to be aligned with truth. The present of truth dispels illusion... even in the density of physicality.

Then let's get to it! Yes, you will naturally have more questions regarding the meaning of that statement; you will have questions that will bring forth certain particulars that will begin with "does that mean..."; yet I want to get to the truth of the immensity of your being here... now... upon earth... in physicality.

Within the ethers of earth's forming there are certain electromagnetic frequencies that cause her to maintain the integrity of her own physicality. Within the ethers of those who reside upon earth, there are those electromagnetic frequencies that either support the manifestation of truth.. or support the dissolving of that which is... simply because of the absence of truth within the fulfillment of purposes set forth by those residing within the etheric field of non-truth.

Now what is non-truth? That is an easy question to answer. It is the illusion of separation from the whole. It is the illusion that you, I, and all beings and all creation are a separate entity in themselves and have ultimate power and domain over the All That Is, when in truth, the All That Is... is everything, including those who believe they are in control of creation itself.

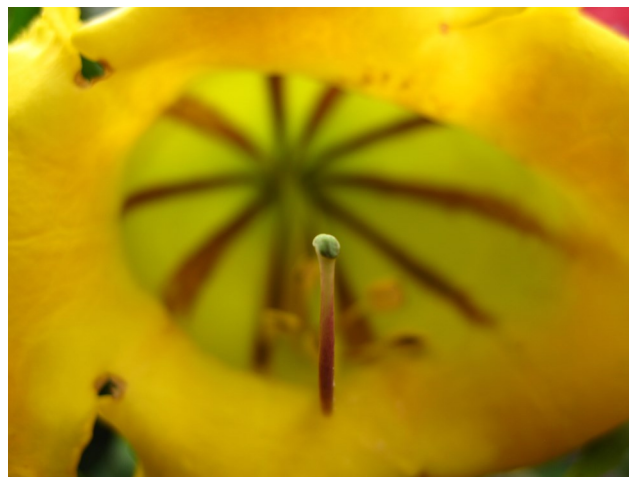

Now there are certain questions about creation itself and the participation therein. Choice is part of the free agent of being incarnate as a human spirit being. Yet choice either resides within truth or resides within the dissolution of the All as it forms within the illusion. And within choice is there the illusion of creation. Yet choice is actually – now some of you will like to hear this, and others will absolutely despise it – either an alignment with truth or with distortion... distortion which takes you back into the cause and effect of illusion – the illusion of separation from the whole, or better said, the untruth – and consequently with the difficulties and frustrations and as you go along, the suffering once again. Yes, the suffering leads you back to giving up your efforts to create that which will not be created for you, and even that truth has become frustrating simply because your efforting has not produced fruition.

But! Here you are! And because you are here, and because you are able to hold truth within your consciousness, you are then able to reside within those electromagnetic frequencies – some called this the awakened state of being – that supports the manifesting of truth incarnate. And what is that but the emergence into the new realm of being! Yes, YOU are an integral part in all of this shifting and changing. YOU, the individual that you seem to be... you are really not just that individual. You see? You are much more.

You are what is called the soul and spirit of the new realm being made incarnate. Perhaps you will reflect upon those words for a moment? YOU.. yes, you, the individual who is receiving these words... are an integral part in the whole of that which is being made manifest. Will the new realm actually be made manifest in physicality now? That depends. Ha! You didn't expect that answer, but it is true. It depends upon you... upon all of you... who are holding truth and who are hungry for the more of who you are, hungry for the truth being made manifest... and which, consequently, delivers to you ease of living, joyful heart, and abundance in all manners of being, as if you were in paradise.

And you have learned that if you focus on the results, the flowing seems to cease. Tricky, isn't it. Yes. If you just keep going within your known, within the spiritual heart of your being, and you remember that you are the One incarnate, and you remember that you are an integral part of something quite amazing... and as long as you continue to reach forth for the truth, the truth that everything is all one, that there is no separation from the whole and that there actually cannot be a separation from the whole, then you are able to reside within the immensity of your fulfillment of purpose. Do you see?

So. How do you do that? How do you go forth in your daily lives and remember all of this? Without effort. However, not without action. The action is this. Before you enter into your daily cause and effect, pause for a moment and remind yourself that you are much more than a human being, remind yourself that you are of the manifestation of truth incarnate and you are fulfilling our purpose by remembering that all... yes, all, that takes place in your day is a direct result of the beauty of that which you are accomplishing simply by being here and residing within the holiness of truth.

Now what does holiness of truth mean? It's not a religious connotation. It simply means that the essence of truth, the essence of the union of all within all, resides within and about the continued conscious knowing of truth. And remember, understanding and knowing are quite different from each other. Knowing is of wisdom, which results from experience... and that is where physicality comes in to play. Do you see? The more that you experience yourselves within the vibration of truth, within the experience of going forth and allowing creation to be of itself while you maintain the knowing of your purpose; the more that all will be made manifest according to the holiness of truth.

Now isn't that all grande? It is. And if you were to read and then perhaps re-read those words, the layers of your inner knowing will expand and allow that which is waiting to flow forth and into your consciousness will do so. This tiny speck has been designed to do just that!

Ah! I believe I have fulfilled the purpose of the tiny speck. Always a pleasure to come forth and to speak with... well, with whoever is ready to hear. Until we speak again, I am.
