

The Divine Mother Speaks...

Greetings! I am your Divine Mother and I come forth to speak with you during this time of great emergence. You are now, exactly in the moment that you receive these words, in the process of your continued emergence from the past, from who you believed you have been, and more so, from the old patterns and encodings that have served you well during your previous journey.

Now you are entering into a new manner of experiencing your own selves, individually and collectively. You have, of course, been hearing words similar to these for quite some time, yet I come forth to speak with you concerning some particulars that you might find to be helpful in your understanding of what exactly is occurring within your own being and then what is consequently occurring collectively.

As you begin to become more and more aware of the new freedom through which you can express your creativity, you are then in that moment becoming aware of the being you were when you first incarnated upon earth long long ago at the beginning of this very long journey.

The more that you pay attention to your choices and, more so, to the motive and reasons for your choices, the more will you begin to discern how you have, in the past, been held within certain old ways of being. Some of you, my children, might realize that you have been hesitant in choosing for yourself for fear of repercussions; while others might realize that previous choices were resting upon certain beliefs in lack or certain beliefs in what is impossible or possible.

Now you are truly able to take a deep breath and pause for a moment. This might seem a moot point, yet I say those words not by incidentality. I speak them to remind you that this journey is not in a hurry, that now, right now, is the moment within which you reside fully. The more that you cause yourself to refuse to project into your possible future, the more that you will be able to enjoy the fulfillment that is attempting to make itself known to your consciousness.

You see, my children, there is always the possibility that you will be in such a hurry in your daily living that you will actually miss your own emergence and then continue onward as if asleep, wondering why you are not fulfilled. In this new manner of living, of being, it is impossible for you to be unfulfilled. Do you see? Your fulfillment is as it was during your first incarnation. That is, everything formed itself for your benefit, for your joy, for your loving embrace. Nothing was withheld and nothing was hidden. You

♥ were able to know in the moment that your stepping... that each stepping was in perfect harmony with the All That Is.. as it, too, made itself manifest.

Then I ask you, my children, to pause for a moment and remember that you are in the midst of something grande. Pause for a moment and recognize that you are letting go of an entire previous journey. The entirety of who you have become is now ready to be released... so that you can be restored to your pristine nature. That means that all of your patterns and encodings are being restored and renewed.

Yet I say again, if you do not pause and reflect upon what is actually occurring, you are then choosing to remain asleep during your own grande emergence. You might not think this is possible, yet it is possible. Always are you residing within choice. Hear my words! If you believe you are unfulfilled and there is seemingly no way out of the drudgery that you are involved within, then you are asleep to your own emergence.

This is not a blameful realization. It is celebratory if you recognize that you are in the mode of residing! You are then awakening to truth. What can you do next? Prepare. How can you prepare? In this manner.

Firstly, objectively become aware of those areas of your own journey that are begging for completion. This does not mean that those areas must either come to fulfillment, fruition, or completion in and of themselves. It does mean that you are finished with trying to make them be as you want them to be, as you wish them to be, when all along you have been trying unsuccessfully to make this manifestation occur. The efforting is for naught. When you become aware of those effortings gone awry then you are right in the moment of declaring them complete. What does that mean?

It means, my children, that you realize in that moment that you are finished with trying to make physicality form itself to your needs. You might say that you are giving up the fight. That does not mean that you take action in the physical, as in quitting a job, leaving a relationship, or any other action of seeming completion. It is your declaration of completion that bring to you the beginning of freedom. Continue within your journey, then, knowing that everything will become complete for you... for you. The action that you have taken is to declare to yourself that you are complete with trying to make manifest that which refuses to be made manifest. Such a declaration releases the energetic formings... and hear these words... so that you can emerge from them and be free of the old patterns.

Next, beign to give yourself permission to relax, to walk in nature, to have some time to yourself wherein you do not be involved with a list of what you must do, but more so, a time when you are letting yourself be free to walk casually and feel inside of your own self that moment when you actually recognize that you are free and are becoming more and more free of all that you had been involved within. Such freedom will continue to make itself known to you the more that you pay attention to it. Do you see? You focus on your own inner emergence is the nourishing of your freedom made manifest.

There will be days or hours or moments when you feel as though you cannot do anything. That is all right. In those times, your entire system is aligning itself to its pristine nature as best can be; this will be a continual process, my children, and you will one day begin to feel more and more awake, more and more at peace within your own spirit.

It is then that you will begin to know that whatever you choose, whatever you do or not do, will reside within your continued moment of fulfillment. Nothing will ever be the same... unless you tell yourself that it is, and if you do that, my children, you will begin to return to sleep. Remember these words! Nothing will be the same. Everything is being made new for you.

With regard to the whole and your participation within it, I am with you always, even beyond the end of time. The whole is now in a similar process, where the illusion and distortion of the past has increased itself for its own survival; while the pristine truth and light continue to emerge. Your own personal emergence holds within it those patterns and encodings that join with the whole as it emerges. It is as if your personal emergence breathes a breath upon the whole and its emergence from the darkness that has made itself present upon earth.

Make no mistake, my children, everything will return to One; yet there is no guarantee that the emergence will occur in this age. It is occurring and that is more than all who observe could have hoped for. Why? The darkness and density of illusion is very present and rolling itself across the earth. For a time, it appeared that there would be an emergence during the next age and that this age was lost to the darkness. This may sound to be horrific; yet I say to you that in the histories of the All That Is, the flowing forth into the unknown has developed many distorted forms and illusions.

Nothing is right or wrong; yet there is a yearning for the love and light of the All That Is to be made manifest in physicality upon earth. And it is that yearning that all who observe are holding within their beings, breathing a breath upon the emergence and hoping beyond hope itself that the emergence will, in fact occur.

And of course, that is why you are here upon earth, my children. You have known that you are here for a specific reason and you have, in your journeys, discovered many purposes. Yet the primary purpose, as you know, is to incarnate consciously truth and love and light. And the reason that the emergence is still occurring is truly because of all of you, my children, who are awake and who are fulfilling that purpose.

I am your Divine Mother and I am so very proud of who you are. I breathe my Breath of Love to you, about you and within you. You are a wonder to behold! Blessed are you and your steppings, your awakenings and your continued journey into the light incarnate. Truth resides within your pristine nature and it is Truth, after all, that restores all to One.

You are most cherished and beloved in my heart.
