

April's Reflection
with Expanded Consciousness

Greetings Wondrous Beings! Greetings to you! We would speak upon your discoveries of not only who you are, but also those abilities that have seemingly eluded your conscious recognition.

As you do know, each being resides within the whole; and within the whole, each being then is also a unique expression within the whole. And within that unique expression, there reside those talents and abilities that enable the conscious uniting within the whole. Conscious uniting within the whole.

Beloved Ones, each time that you choose to play, to enjoy your journey; each time that you choose to care for yourself; and each time you go forth into an exploration that calls to you, tickles your adventurous spirit... it is then that you are entering the knowing of your talents and abilities.

You may be thinking or even saying at this moment that you would like to be able to do certain things, perform certain miracles. Of course you would. And perhaps you can. Yet we say to you, such yearning and wanting reflects that which you have already accomplished within your journey though the many lifetimes that you have experienced toward incarnating during this most auspicious time.

For example, if you are saying "I want to be a great healer. I want to be part of miracles occurring right before my eyes," what are you truly saying? Beloved One, you are saying that you want to consciously experience the divine flowing. It is your past, so to speak, that delivers to you the most familiar avenue. And if you have been a healer in other lifetimes, your most familiar path is through those manners of experiencing the divine flowing.

Yet we say to you, this journey is different. How is it different? You are here to experience the wonder of who you are... free from the olde beliefs, free from the olde patterns, and free from those purposes of olde that have been - perhaps unknown to you - directly your life and your choices.

We have been speaking with you concerning your own emergence into a new life, into a new way of being. And it is your continued choice to enter into those experiences that deliver to you joy and delight, that call you to explore something new and exciting, and that invite you to experience your own self in a new way... these continued choices place you consciously within your new life.

Perhaps you are a healer? Perhaps you are a teacher? Perhaps you are an artist? Perhaps you are a dancer? Perhaps you are a farmer? Perhaps you are... we could go on and on, Beloved One. All of these descriptions are manners of experiencing who you are. All of these descriptions are ways through which you can consciously experience your own divine flowing. Do you see? You are not any of these. You are divine essence flowing forth to take form... according to your conscious – and unconscious – choices. When you go forth in any of these manners, you are going forth for the sole purpose of discovering more of yourself.

And you might be thinking that such a going forth would be selfish. To which we would say... in your slang vocabulary... “you betcha!” Beloved One, now is the time, this life is the life within which you are given the opportunity for your own fulfillment. Yes, personal fulfillment. And while you may go forth and assist others, now you have required yourself to go forth in harmony within your own fulfillment. What does that mean, in harmony within your own fulfillment?

It means “you first”. It means that if you are requiring rest, then rest. It means that if you want to play, then play. It means that if you have the feeling to help a friend, then help a friend. However, if you are doing anything because you believe it will make you be a holy person, you have then forgotten who you are; you have then returned to sleep. That is all right, Beloved One. Each experience within forgetting, each experience within sleep gives to you that opportunity to awaken. And such experiences of sleep to awake are actually the pulse beat of your own forming and unforming.

Remember, you are an amazing being; and while you may accomplish amazing feats, while you may do amazing things, the accomplishments and doing do not make you an amazing being. You are intrinsically gloriously wonderful. It is your natural manner of being.

Now as you have the words, go and play!
