

Reflection for October, 2024 with Teacher

Greetings wondrous beings! Greetings to you! I am Teacher and I come forth to speak with you during this time upon Earth when there are many shiftings going on, when there are many challenges both physical and emotional. The frequencies of Earth are changing and you who receive these words are a major part of that changing. How? Here's the answer.

So many of you have not a clue to who you really are and I, Teacher am now here to correct that absence of your grandness. Oh, I'm not talking about your ego or how you hope to be one day. More so, I am speaking about your spirit, that of you that holds within it your own histories, your own desires, your own hopes and dreams, and your own manners of expressing the truth of who you are.

Now the truth of who you are is the real answer to all of this, isn't it. You see, my dears, long ago you gathered together and determined that you would reside upon earth during these times. You might be thinking that you'd wished something different. And that would be natural. Why? Well, my dears, at times physicality is a bit challenging. But here's the major clue.

It is time to let go of your beliefs, to let go of those parameters that tend to keep you separate from all others. Now it's understandable that you would not want to be immersed in some gatherings that are not compatible to your manners, of course. Yet within all beings there is the life force. You see? All beings, in truth all holds within it that life force. So then when you can let go of your need to be right or your need to make others in your thinking be wrong, then oh then, you are ready to begin a new journey. What's the new journey? It's this.

When you can let go of that human need to judge in order to determine how you can be safe or successful, then you can begin to choose. And what are you choosing? You are choosing that which is the most compatible to your spirit, to that which you truly are. Here's an example.

What if you took a few moments and just sat in nature and rested your spirit there? What if you then determined that you choose peace within and without. What if you choose to be fulfilled in all manners—and you do not have to describe what those might be. You are just choosing the new journey, your journey.

You might be thinking that there is so much occurring upon this glorious Earth of yours that you doubt you can reside in peace. Buy here's the good news. It is just at these moments that your choice is most powerful. And within those choices, there comes forth those frequencies to support your choices. You are then actually creating a different reality. You are able to place your spirit in those frequencies. How? Well, that's the answer: by choice. If you are in a stream of difficulties, then it seems that it would be the best time to decide, to choose to step out of that stream.

Does that mean that you are going to run away from your journey, your current journey? No, of course not. It does mean that when you choose and allow yourself to feel what the fulfillment of that choice might be to you, to your inner being, then you are participating in the fulfillment of that which is begging to be made manifest. In truth, all is already made manifest and in choosing you are simply placing your spirit within those frequencies. You see how easy this can be?

I, Teacher, come forth to deliver to you these words, my dears. They are words of encouragement. They are words of love. They are words of a manner of being that can deliver you from that stream of difficulties and challenges. You are strong, you are courageous, you are loving, you are kind. And, my dears, you are the Light of Lights. You are Truth made manifest. You are the manner of being that so many are reaching for. You are the Holy Ones who are walking the Earth now. Uplift your thoughts of who you are. Consider this.

You are the Holiness stepping forth to be made manifest in physicality so that all beings can feel the frequencies of the fulfillment of who they truly are.

You are the Love of Loves flowing forth to embrace totality, for it is within totality that you hold the Truth of One, the Truth that all beings are one being, the Truth that there is only separation in the illusion, the Truth that not one being can be separate from the All, from that Totality. That's what you hold within your very being.

You are the journey, you are the steppings upon the journey, you are the awakenings, you are the sighs of relief, you are the laughter, you are the weeping, you are the lending of a hand to assist a being to be uplifted from despair, you are the one receiving the hand that you be lifted out of despair. You are the beauty of Nature and you are Nature herself. You are the manner of breathing that holds within it the blessings of Oneness of Being.

You are incarnate in physicality and you are beyond physicality. You are the Spirit of One and you are those ones who are reaching for the Spirit of One.

Breathe deeply, my dear ones, and allow yourself to consider all that I bring to you, for it is my great pleasure to assist you to remember Truth, to remember a way that was given long ago, a way that held you within it, a way that delivered you to a manner of being that demonstrated peace, love, and the original steppings within that called Paradise. You are still stepping within those frequencies of long ago.

And now it is the time, so to speak, to remember those steppings and to call them forth so that your feet are stepping as you did long ago, only you are stepping now in this lifetime, in this reality, in this Breath of Truth. Your determining to participate in this manner gives to you and to all begins, that which has been waiting to become more manifest in physicality. Why? Why is it waiting to be more present in physicality? Because of you and who you are and your ability to choose, know that within those choices do you become the Holy Ones placing your feet upon Paradise so that all can do the same.

Yes, my dear ones, you are so much more than you have been led to believe. And that is all right. Yet it is now time for you to begin to recognize that you are a great spirit, a flowing of frequencies that resides within a human vessel. You might call it a package deal. That vessel within which you reside gives you the ability to call forth Truth incarnate. And that is the answer, my dears.

Remember remember remember. There are different journeys and you are now at the moment of choice. Choose for yourself and you choose for Totality. The more that you who receive these words choose for peace, for love, for fulfillment of being, and for the demonstration of Truth that all beings are one being, then you are residing not only within your own fulfillment, but also residing within the fulfillment of your purpose.

I am Teacher and I am most pleased to come forth in this manner to speak with you, to reach out my caring and love, to embrace you with those frequencies that allow you to consider who you are not and to let go of those parameters so that you can continue to reside in that beautiful essence.. You.

Then until we speak again, I, Teacher, speak the words so be it.

Perhaps we will speak them together?

So be it.
