

Reflection for September 2025 with Teacher

Greetings! I am Teacher and I come forth to speak with you, lovelies on the path that can deliver to you fulfillment in all ways. Now what does that really mean “fulfillment in all ways”? I’m actually talking about something that occurs before a physical manifestation. So, here’s the scoop.

There have been many teachings that describe how to make something manifest before you. Now some of those teachings worked, at least for a little while. Some of you might have enjoyed that success. But when it came to a grander manifestation what happened? It didn’t occur and you what? You blamed yourself or the universe. But that moment when it didn't occur was actually a great shift in your frequencies and the manner in which you resided in your spiritual journey. So let’s talk about that just a little.

At that moment you were being asked to let go of trying to make your external life better. And the reason you were asked to do that is because you were and are ready for something else. The something else is bigger, but it doesn’t begin with physicality. It being within your beautiful spirit. When you are being asked to let go of your desires to be made manifest in physicality, you are then also being asked to remember a great truth, and to also remember how you lived in that truth... long ago.

So. Long ago when you first came to earth, you resided in a magical way where everything manifested for you before you wanted... anything. That was the way it was. And then after many years or even lifetimes, that Truth tended to fade into the background especially when human nature found delight in controlling physicality. Now that’s not blameful. It was and is part of the journey. Yet. Yes, yet. Here’s the good news.

You have those memories within your beingness. You have the knowing of that magical way. You hold it in your consciousness when you choose to be peaceful, when you choose to allow yourself and others to be exactly how you and they are, and especially when you stop trying to be anything else but who you are in the moment. Now I’m not speaking of who you are with regard to your name, your profession, your manner of living. I am speaking of the “who you are” in spirit form, the real you. And some of you have discovered that you can get to know that real you by being in nature, by sitting quietly by setting aside wants, and by beginning to celebrate what is. And if you haven’t found a way to discover “who you really are” in spirit, then here’s your opportunity.

You see, my dears, because of the shifting in frequencies upon this great earth, there are those frequencies that are a true match to your spirit, to who you really are. And when you pause from your daily cause and effect and place yourself in a peaceful manner and let go of that thinking mind’s busyness, then you can choose to call forth those frequencies that are a match to you, to your true self, to your spirit. Don’t worry. Nothing of these frequencies will be denied to you. They are yours to have, yours to reside within, yours to call forth so that you are actually awakening more and more and more. And that’s the ease of it, isn’t it. You don't’ have to make yourself be what your thinking mind decides is holy. You just be you and allow your spirit to become closer and closer to your knowing.

What does this do? For you? Here's the next good news. It brings you to that manner of being that you knew so well when you first became upon earth. And that manner of being is just waiting for you, just waiting to place before you those small fulfillments and then great and greater. And as long as you don't try to control or grab on to a manner that you believe will make fulfillment happen and you simply reside in that frequency that you have called forth, then oh then, my dears, the pathway becomes...what? It becomes magical once again.

Truly, my dears, this is for you. The shift in frequencies and consciousness upon earth does not mean that things get more difficult. It means that you have the opportunity to let go of what isn't working and to place yourself within what is begging you to reside within. The ease of living.... as who you really are.

You are a magnificent being. And the delightful manner resides just beneath your steppings upon earth. If you pay attention, you will feel that magic flowing forth for you, to you, as you. Remember, my dears, you let go of survival's grasp long ago. You let go of allowing others to determine who you are and what your life means. You let go long ago the suffering that begs you to uplift your consciousness. And yes, there was that time when you just couldn't believe that expanding your consciousness would lift you out of survival. But then one day something happened, didn't it. Something brought your awareness to the bigger, to the more of totality, that not everything is physical. And then you discovered that the non-physical was all part of who you are. And that was an amazing awakening.

And now I, Teacher, with these words invite you to step into more, to step into the opportunity to discover how your life's journey, your spiritual journey, can merge together and produce for you softness of being, love for your own being, gentleness in your manner of thinking, sweetness in the way you decide to go forth, and more and more, do you find great relief from what you have been struggling with. Oh the journey might not change so much, but your experience of it will definitely change. Why? Because you have chosen that magic that was yours from the very beginning.

Yes! That's what this is all about now, my dears.

I, Teacher have a great fondness for you. I am about you and cheering you onward to your discoveries. Remember, you are already holy beings. You are already awake. You are already loved, deeply loved. You are cared for. The spirit-beings around you embrace you and uplift you always. Give them a chance. The only thing you have to lose is difficulty in letting go, letting go of the need to believe you can arrange your journey when actually it is already beautiful for you... waiting for you to place your loveliness upon it.

I am most pleased to be speaking with you in this manner. And I give great gratitude to this vessel who allows me to flow forth for you.

Until we speak again, I, Teacher, speak the words so be it. Perhaps we will speak them together?

So be it.
