

Your Daily Reflection for June with The Divine Mother!

Greetings All Beings. I am the Divine Mother and come forth to speak with you. Why? Why would I come forth to speak with you now? The reason is that I hold you in my heart.

During this time of great upheaval upon the earth where you reside physically, there are many temptations to reside within right and wrong. And that is not correct nor incorrect. It simply diminishes who you are to your own self and that is what I would like to speak with you about.

There has come the moment, now, when so many are living within that projected cause and effect that they are forgetting how to live, how to breathe, how to be happy within their being. And, my dear ones, that is what is wanted. You see, there are those who do not want you to be happy or fulfilled or to stop focusing on their right and wrongness. I, your Divine Mother, believe you would benefit from what I am about to say.

You must care for yourself. How can you do that? In this manner. Firstly, remember who you are, that you are a divine being who is incarnate during a most transformative time. This means that you are here for a reason. Now I am not involved in lecturing, as some are. I simply wish you to remember that you are holding within you being great light and great love. It is the fabric of your being. Do you see?

Then how can you be remember that truth if you are focused on the external cause and effects that are designed to cause you to forget? This is what I, your Divine Mother, wish that you would do... for the love of who you are. Set aside knowing of the external, even if it is for just a few days, so that you can begin to remember what it is like to focus within, to feel in your entire beingness that great love and great light.

Then, my dear children, remember that Truth that filled you long ago, the Truth that caused you to awaken, the Truth that brought peace to your inner being, and that Truth that pulled forth your great compassion for all beings. Remember that you have been holy in many lifetimes, sometimes a Teacher sometimes a Student, other times a Healer, and other times a great One who traveled to other realms to assist other species and beings. You have done all of this and it comprises the nature of who you are to your own self.

Within that Great Love you have loved the forsaken, you have loved the great ones who resided in deep loneliness, you have loved the children lost, and you have loved all beings simultaneously and your love healed the many. You have done this and so very much more. And it too comprises the fabric of your beingness, that which you can recognize as who you are, who you truly are.

I ask you to remember all of this so that you can be more of your true self during these times. You must be, you see, for your true self is being pulled forth, being called to be present, your true self is emerging from the distortion and untruths. And that emergence is a great light to all. Even if you are alone or even if you are with a gathering of beings, still you are that Great Light. You are emerging into what? You are emerging into the Consciousness of the Whole. And the Whole, my dear ones, is so much more that can be thought of or thought about. This Whole is before the All ever came to be.

And now I ask you to take a few moments and breathe deeply and feel my Love as it flows forth to you, to assist in your own emergence to yourself, to your own holiness of being, so that you can be fully incarnate. The time is now, my dear ones. The time is now to enter your physicality and reside fully awake and emerged from the density of the illusion. And while it may call to you to determine if part of that density is right or wrong, ignore that invitation. This IS your invitation to truly awaken, fully, perhaps magically, to your own human nature, to full that purpose of Truth, of Love and of the Great Light.

I say to you, now you are fulfilling your purpose. Then pause for this moment, breathe deeply and now... receive my love as it flows forth to you, to all beings, but to you who receive these words, for you are at the cusp of something grand and you must be awake and fully incarnate for this something grand. And that is what I am inviting you to participate with me now. I am your Divine Mother and I now breathe forth my Divine Love. Receive it. Breathe it into your being and into your own lovely heart. Allow your consciousness to be filled with Love, Divine Love. It is the nourishment of your being.

I am breathing it forth to you now....

Now be who you are... be who you have always been.

So be it.
